Lisa,

Here is a wireframe design to start exploring the way your site will unfold. Please share any feedback along the way. I look forward to helping you realize the look you want!

Now remember, this is just the opening flowchart. I'll be working with you further as we get further into the thick of the project. Check back tomorrow morning for the completed flowchart, as I'll be working through the night on it. I'll keep you updated and you can text or email me any time with ideas or concerns. I'm at your service and committed to providing you with elite service.

Please feel free to use the comment space to provide links to websites with designs you'd like me to consider!
